St. Patrick Catholic Community, Scottsdale, AZ | 4C 05-1248

First Down with Fr. Eric

Dear Friends,

Our prayers and support go out to the people of St. William Catholic Church in Cashion, next to Avondale in the West Valley. The community recently suffered the loss of its church building along with the parish hall, classrooms, and a food bank. The parish community of 1,000 families will begin the process of rebuilding. The buildings were a total loss.

Thanks to the constant giving of our parishioners, I decided recently to take $5,000 from our Sunday offertory and send the money directly to St. Williams to help with the purchase of basic items for Masses. This will be important to the community, among other necessities. Frank Dominguez, our Parish Administrator, will be in contact with that community to help assess their needs and how we might support them. To those who gave the first Sunday of the month to help us support St. William, thank you for giving. Anyone can drop off a financial offering for St. Williams at the Parish Office or place it in the offertory basket with the words St. Williams in an envelope or check.

I am grateful many parishioners know helping our brothers and sisters from other parishes is a great reminder that we belong to one another.

We will keep everyone up to date if any new and important information is made known to us.

Peace in Christ,

Fr. Eric

Christian Disciples in Mission Living Beyond Sunday

BY ERIC TAMAYO,
Pastoral Associate

Behavioral Health Initiative Ministry: Mental Health Awareness Month

As we celebrate the feast of Pentecost we recall the familiar story of the Holy Spirit descending upon the disciples and appearing to them as tongues of fire about them. Miraculously, even though they spoke different languages, everyone was able to understand each other. Through the working of the Holy Spirit the people are able to overcome the language barrier that once separated them. From this story we see a clear sign that God working in a community is always one of unity and love. The message during May for Mental Health Awareness Month can also be considered one of unity and love.

For many Catholics suffering from mental illness, the stigma, shame, and in some cases shunning they experience creates a barrier to engage meaningfully in the life of the Church, moving closer to Christ, and indeed living life to the fullest. Mental Health Awareness Month calls us to end the stigma that surrounds one of every five families. Yes, one of every five families will have a loved one that has a significant mental health issue. Roughly twenty families out of every one hundred families in a parish will be reluctant to talk about or disclose the illness because of stigma. Stigma also prevents many people with mental illness from seeking help. One pastoral need facing the family as well as the parish family and larger community is the need for a better understanding of mental illness. What a mental illness is and what it is not. An awareness that mental illness is a biological brain disorder, a physical disorder, not a choice, not a weakness, and not bad parenting.

In 1996, Pope John Paul II delivered a powerful message in response to the rising mental health crisis, "Whoever suffers from mental illness 'always' bears God's image and likeness in himself, as does every human being. In addition, he 'always' has the inalienable right not only to be considered as an image of God and therefore as a person, but also to be treated as such." As Catholics we are called to support and care for all people regardless of any mental illness, as every person has an innate dignity bestowed upon them by God.

St. Patrick has long been concerned with addressing issues around mental health and promoting awareness. Through our Behavioral Health Initiative Ministry, we seek to serve as an avenue to provide literacy in mental health, to reduce the stigma of mental illness, encourage conversations around mental illness, and create a safe environment for individuals to share and seek help surrounding their mental illness. The focus of this ministry is primarily education, accompaniment, and advocacy. We seek to accompany those with mental health needs in the parish and the larger community in both a welcoming and meaningful way. We also strive to do as Pope Francis has asked by remembering those who live with mental health challenges and "pray for them and their families, so that they are never left alone, or discriminated against, but instead are welcomed and supported." If you are interested in being a part of our Behavioral Health Initiative Ministry you can call the parish office or email ktrilk@stpatcc.org for more information.

Stewardship

As humans, trapped, immortal bodies, many of us have a tendency to view life in the world through an earthly lens. This makes sense as we aren't all-knowing, transcendent beings. However, God is constantly inviting us to think bigger-or, more to the point, to think higher.

As we celebrate the Ascension, we are much like the apostles in the first reading, staring up at Christ and the heavens with their feet firmly planted on earth. Not the angels' response, wondering why the apostles are so surprised. The apostles have seen miracles, and the risen, Lord, but they're still viewing the realities around them from a human perspective the invitation of scripture to think more as God thinks. That's why, in the second reading, St. Paul is praying that the Ephesians will receive "wisdom and revelation" and that their hearts will "be enlightened."

Similarly, Jesus is telling the disciples that, by the power of his Spirit, they are going to do things that humans can't normally do. They will "speak, new languages," "drive out demons," and "pick up serpents with their hands," just to name a few. Christ is trying to explain that as great as life has been with him on earth, greater things are still to come. This week at Mass (where heaven and earth collide), thank the Lord for the ability to dream big and to do the extraordinary. Thank him for the talents he is given you and the humility to share those talents in the world for his glory and not your own.

Aging Adult Population and Housing

The following is information shared by Lisa Glow, Executive Director of Central Arizona Shelter Services (CASS) regarding the aging adult population and housing:

For the last six years, CASS has solidified our stake in the ground to better serve the growing number of aging adults becoming homeless in our community.

With the support of the Virginia G. Piper Charitable Trust, we were able to accelerate our aging adult work in 2019, and hired a diverse team of case managers who were solely dedicated to working with our seniors. This work has led to invaluable partnerships with ASU around newly developed screening tools to better screen and provide resource acquisition for our clients showing signs of dementia and other cognitive disorders.

Recently, and with the generous support and partnership of the City of Phoenix, we operated a temporary hotel shelter site for seniors aged 55 and older. This site allowed for 60 seniors to be moved from the Single Adult Shelter downtown to what we called Haven on McDowell. While initial funding has been exhausted for keeping this site operational, we were able to serve 74 senior clients and provide 8,155 bed nights. Many of those clients have been housed, some have gone to other hotel programs and all are receiving ongoing case management support.

The Senior Haven is in final renovations and is targeted to open in the Summer of 2024.

This renovated hotel will have 170 beds for individuals 55 years and older and will offer individual and shared rooms offered and a dedicated case manager. Clients who have a dedicated case manager are 300% more likely to have a positive housing outcome. Case management matters and leverages our organizational resources to ensure an individual's homelessness is as brief, as dignified and as non-recurring as possible.

The Just Coffee ministry will be selling the Cafe Justo brand coffee next weekend on May 25 & 26. You are invited to stop by the table in the Narthex.

Selling this Cafe Justo coffee product supports the farmer cooperative in Mexico and provides their workers with livable wages and job opportunities, ultimately keeping families together on their own land. This is a faith in action ministry at St. Patrick that addresses immigration, trade imbalances, and poverty in third world countries. All workers and families receive healthcare, pensions, and profits are reinvested in their communities.

This will be the LAST weekend for coffee before the summer begins. We are in need of ministers to help this coffee ministry continue for next Fall. Contact Richard DiCarlo at rdicarlo@stpatcc.org or 480-998-3843 ext. 107.

HOW TO REDUCE STRESS IN FIVE STEPS

01 Identify your stressors:

The first step to reducing stress is to identify what is causing it. This can be anything from work, to relationships, to money troubles. Once you know what is stressing you out, you can start to deal with it.

02 Make a plan:

This may involve making some changes in your lifestyle, such as cutting back on work hours or taking some time for yourself each day.

03 Seek help:

If you're struggling to cope with stress on your own, don't be afraid to seek out professional help. A therapist can help you learn how to deal with stress in a healthy way.

04 Practice relaxation:

There are many different ways to relax, such as yoga, meditation, and deep breathing. Find a method that works for you and make sure to practice it regularly.

05 Take a break:

This may mean taking a vacation from work or spending some time away from your family. Sometimes a change of scenery is all you need to feel better.
